THE AMAZING OTIS RETIRES!!!

It was only a few short months ago, when The Amazing Otis stormed the scene with his astrotological talents. However, it soon became obvious that he had made too many enemies in too short a time.

Otis' retirement came as a surprise to me, but I felt that it came at a very opportune time. We were starting to get requests to do things like kick him out and we felt we were going to have to do something soon. The only reason

Otis gave me for his departure was that "too many people knew." It's unfortunate that we didn't get any official words from him — this leaves much of the "Otis controversy" clouded in mystery.

We still want to include horoscopes in the Gazette, so if you are interested, contact us.

At any rate, this month unveils the handwriting grades of Chris Rutzen's dad from elementary school. It's really quite interesting, so I hope you all have fun reading it.

By the way, I'm really glad people tell us their thoughts after each issue. It's the only way we can learn to improve, so please tell us what you like and don't like. Y'know, it's getting old saying...

Enjoy!

Wowie zowie! What a month this has been for Bryan! Since the beginning, Bryan has been a great help to the club in addition to being the official Figurehead Secretary, and even made it last month as a M.O.M. Runner Up. But this month he became M.O.M. because he revealed where Rib-O's can be purchased (at ~~the club~~). Then this month took a crazy turn when his appendix went kablooiie. He was in the hospital for a while, but he just recently came back. Anyhow, if you see him in the hall shout,

"Hey M.O.M! Congratulations!"

... long hours of research, covert operations, under-the-table deals, and asking Chris Rutzen's dad for them, the C.B.D.H.F.C. has finally gotten a hold of Chris Rutzen's dad's handwriting grades from elementary school.

PAT: OK. How should we start this off?
BRAD: Uh, I dunno. I'm not very good at these things.
JOE: Well, I guess the basic idea is that we're gonna take a look at CRD's handwriting roots. Well, his grades at any rate.
P: Here we have his primary report from first grade at Perry Central School in New York. (RIGHT)→
B: I can't believe they only gave him "good"!!!
J: Man. That's not even a handwriting grade. It's a conformity grade! I mean, what does it all mean anyhow?
P: And for crying out loud, they gave him a 2

"satisfactory" for the first two grading periods! Man, there should be a grade called "ACACRDH", which would stand for As Cool As Chris Rutzen's Dad's Handwriting".

J: Of course, there's only one person in the world who would get that grade. But it should be there for when it's needed.
P: Why don't we move on? All right, next up is grade two.
B: I can't believe they only gave him a "G"!!! (LEFT)
J: And look at it. How does someone with that kind of handwriting (the "G"s look like "C"s, for Chuck's sake!) get off giving an imperfect grade to CRD?

I thought it WAS "M. Rexnolds"!

Cooking & Dining w/ Guido the Hitman

Well, everyone, since my duties of security have gotten a bit on the slow side, I decided to share a few of my cooking favorites. (But don't even think that I've stopped watching you guys.)

*Ingredients

- 11 bags of potato chips
- 1 smoked salmon
- 2 small cashews
- 1 hair "scrunchie"
- 1 tranquilizer gun w/ ammo
- 2 cups of milk
- 1/2 oz. horseradish
- 1 pie crust
- 1 1/2 cherries

To begin, take the 11 bags of potato chips, open each one and eat all of the contents. Then take two cashews and gently shove them into the interior of your nose. By now, you should be very sick. If not, you may have to eat another 11 bags of potato chips, but once you are sick and throw up, place the "scrunchie" in the toilet and yell for your sister (or brother or neighbor). Then you tell them that there is a "scrunchie" that accidentally fell in the toilet, and you refuse to pick it up. After they open the lid to find your 11 bags of potatochip barf, you then run like crazy. Next, you go to a park that has bears. You then place the salmon in the way of the bear and wait for it to come by. When one does (this may take a while) you shoot it with the tranquilizer. You collect drool from the sleeping bear and combine the remainder of the ingredients in a bowl. You place this goop in the pie crust, bake in oven at 350°F for 10-12 minutes. Let cool, then serve! Enjoy!

The G Files
By Agent Flying Squirrel Kwasaki and Agent Scabby

An exclusive column entailing the theoretical existence of the CRDHC's famed hitman-"Guido"

"Guido." Just mention the name of the famed killer in any room of RES and watch them shudder. What's in that name, you may ask? Is it the sound of hundreds of years of Italian mafia wrapped up into one manipulative, scheming, club president? Or is it the surname of some kid named Dante Cassagrande? (We don't know who he is or know anyone who knows who he is, but are pretty sure somebody does. Maybe.) Or could he be the first child of Elvis, employed by Mr. Fisher as a liberal skinner. (We don't know where this theory came from, but we think the source was a liberal.)

Agent Scabby and I have devoted all of our free time to finding this freak (his butt is known to have the texture of mashed potatoes), as I am the head of the S.I.A. (the Sensual Intelligence Agency), and Scabby thinks that Guido fathered her only child in '88. During our ever constant search for the truth, we have picked up and created several hundred theories on the existence of the club legend, and below we will present this month's best.

Guido is Pat Hu: Who is Guido? Hu is Guido? Get it? Guido also has handwriting that looks sort of like Pat's. We're not sure about Pat's butt, but Scabby won't test it, and neither will I. Guido isn't 8" tall: the tallest person alive is eight feet tall, and he's not Guido

Steve Randall is Guido: This isn't really a theory, but he looks DAMN GOOD. (Especially his butt.)

Guido lives in an ancient cave in Japan, learning martial arts from an old master, awaiting the moment he can fight the drug lord who killed his father (the drug lord being, of course, a Jedi Knight and Guido's stepfather). All hitmen do this, sooner or latter. Nipal backwards is Ralph: This isn't a theory, but it is an amazing coincidence.

Dante Cassagrande is Guido: Backed up by several people. Dante, your butts on open season.

As you see, the Pat Hu theory and the Dante Cassagrande theory seem to be the most reliable. We have, at this moment, teams of investigators pretending to investigate the above leads. Any and all information you have would provide a great deal of help to me, the only person who actually does anything in this damn organization. Meanwhile, the truth is out there. Probably.

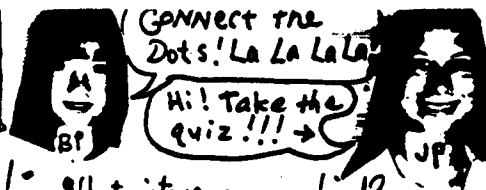

We will give you one dollar for any information leading directly to the capture Guido. Remember, you could always take Steve Randall out with the reward. ~~Don't~~ that boys butt is nice.

Mostly c's: You are the most wonderful, fabulous, etc. person in the world and a statue should be made of you and placed in front of the school; not only do you have evil, compulsive thoughts, but you act on them. But you're still not nearly as cool as

You guys -
So I'm minding my own (business that is) nursing a slight hang-over w/ a cup of coffee, when I receive a letter from my good friend from Kent, OH: Phil Tadson. Included is issue 5 vol. 1 of the Chris Rutzen's Dad's Handwriting Fan Club Gazette. Yes, I'd admit to the fact that I'm impressed but I'd like to see some documentation of Mr. Rutzen's handwriting before I take myself and drop out of school to support this following. You currently working on membership w/ the aid of Phil Tadson (a great guy!).

So maybe you'd like to know a bit about California life? Well we've got it all here in sunny Aptos (a part of Santa Cruz, although I'm from Soquelite, just across the Golden Gate Bridge from San Francisco. I'm here in Aptos to attend Cabrillo College). As I was saying, we've got it all including: Extreme liberals who yell and scream at anything not "politically correct", they will argue any topic w/ you at any given time. Say "Hi" to a female of this group and you may face charges of sexual harassment.

Next we have "Alternative" people. These people will be quick to point out that they are different, they usually have hair dyed in bright colors along w/ at least 3 or 4 face piercings. Often they will have written messages on their clothing. One example I recently saw: Animals are my friends, I don't eat my friends.

On to the hippies - Ah yes this bunch can be seen all over CA, if you want to see them in numbers, go to a Grateful Dead concert, (personally I'll be grateful when they're all dead). Hair will not be combed or cut & quite often sported in the dreadlock fashion. CA has more white people w/ dreadlocks than any part of the world. Hippies don't wear deodorant so avoid them on hot days! Favorite words include wow and trippy.

I know you are wondering, it's California, isn't it? What about the surfers? Well, surfers will be seen down at the beach at 9:00 in the morning drinking tall cans of King Cobra, waiting for a good set of waves. If they don't have a shaved head, it (hair) will be bleached blond by the sun. They always need a shave, have sunburnt faces, & smell like stale sea water. "Dude" is used often.

There are several smaller social stereotypes, but the last ones I will mention are the "Coffee House Franks" who wear mostly if not all black clothing, sit around coffee shops, drinking well, coffee, chain smoking and having really "deep" conversations.

Myself? I'm none of these. I don't know how to classify myself. I like to enjoy the company of my friends, especially my roommates (Rob, Bob, and Amir) yes his name really is Bob. I like to walk down to the beach & watch the sunset. I like to drink quality microbrewery beer that can only be found here in CA. For the record, beers such as Red Dog and Red Wolf are not quality and are nothing more than Miller and Bud colored red.

I'm mentioning beer a lot because everyone (all social groups mentioned and then some) seems to drink a lot of beer. Maybe vote thirtier? here? But in California, you don't have to be a jack mouthed fratboy to drink a lot.

A few comments about the Gazette...

I loved the swimsuits! They are going to be strategically placed in my bathroom.

I followed Capricorn's advice to kiss the pizaman, he was quite surprised, my que is healing quite nicely though.

Tyrone! and Jamal! - superb I laughed, I cried. I'm considering a jerry curl and I'd like to know what brand of curl activator to use. Can they help me?

Overall great job fellows, I look forward to further correspondence.

That California Guy,

Remy Vaughn

P.S. - For all you Chiavos who watch 90210 and/or Melrose Place - please understand these are fictional dramas and in no way do they represent the lives of people of California, living or dead. Thanks, Remy.

Remy -

Wow. Thanks for the letter. So it's said, the one thing in the world that can unify all the different people in the world is BEER. And all along, I thought it was Velocipede.

Dear Pat the, Joe Feinberg and the rest of C.R.D.H.F.C.

As completely cool and awesome as the C.R.D.H.F.C. is, I have just one complaint. The Otis column... Otis has no judgment of what is funny and what would offend people. Okay... I don't know if he's joking or not, but either way, he's definitely not funny. It started out pretty good, but it's deteriorated to the point where it can't be saved. I guess you should give him another chance to prove himself, but, if he doesn't, you should reveal his identity to those who don't know it already so we can chase him around and ~~kill~~ give him really big wedgies (and hit him with poles) in the next recent issue (5/6). It's the worst it's ever been. I don't want to be mean at all, but I just thought you should know. I love the rest of the club! Thanks for hearing me out.

Your devoted fan,
Erin Lowrey

Erin,
Thanks for venting your anger. At this point, we don't think it would be fair to Otis to reveal his identity. Sorry!

Next Time: Velocipede! (April Fools!)

But really... LOTS OF NEAT THINGS!... see you in May.

to the first commanders of the C.R.D.H.F.C.

I was so excited when I got my new hot-off-the-presses Gazette, I nearly peed my pants. I did the word search (there were a lot of P's, which is my fave), ask for one (esp. when I said, "What else talkin' out with?") and the V. interview - esp. Jeff's (he is my boyfriend & all) but I ~~hate~~ hate Otis. He needs to die. I think we should throw him off the face of the earth. Also, Jeff needs to understand that his obsessions w/ Mike Cane and pants are getting out of control. so if you see Jeff (aka, Stinkyp) in the hall, give him a good kick in the butt.

I nominate P as letter of the month. it's in good words like poop, Clapper, Velocipede, Olympia and Bot.

Also, I need to stress the importance of AMNESTY. membership is down so go to the meetings, you jerks. talk to Olympia Newton (she's the one of the big fave) if you have any P's.

I love the Gazette & CAD, so keep up the good work!

Love,
Colleen
